INDEX

ARTICLES

Arnold, Matthew: A Poet of Fifty Years Ago, 62.

Authority in Religion, The Philosophy of, 677.

Buddhism as a Living Force, 465.

Catastrophes and the Moral Order (Martinique and St Vincent, May 1902), I., 114; II., 121; III., 126.

Christian Doctrine, The Basis of, 5.

Doctrine, The Drifting of, 498.

Editorial, 1.

Eusebius, The Purpose of, 781.

Gospels, Three Early Doctrinal Modifications of the, 96.

Infinite, The Concept of the, 21.

Jesus Christ, The Character of, 641.

Jewish Scholarship and Christian Silence, 335.

Johannine Problem, Recent Aspects of the. I. The External Evidence, 510.

Liberal Catholic Movement in England, The, 704.

Martineau, James: A Saint of Theism, 253.

Martineau's Philosophy, 441.

Missions, Christian, in India, The Failure of, 487.

Missions, Indian, Are They a Failure? 661.

Moral Ideal, Aspects of the,—Old and New, 294.

Old Testament Study, Pressing Needs of the, 747.

Optimism and Immortality, 425.

Orders, The Growing Reluctance of Able Men to Take, 713.

Physical Law and Life, 728.

Reformation, Do we Believe in the? 693.

Religion, The Present Attitude of Reflective Thought towards, 228.

"Righteousness of God," On the Meaning of, in the Theology of Paul, I., 83; II., 272.

Romans, Did Paul Write? 309.

Romans, Did Paul Write? A Reply, 532.

Sabatier, Auguste, and the Paris School of Theology, 553.

Science and Faith, The Outstanding Controversy Between, 46.

Science and Faith, The Reconciliation between, 209.

Zoroastrianism and Primitive Christianity, 763.

Armstrong, R.A., B.A., author of article "Catastrophes and the Moral Order" (Martinique and St Vincent, May 1902), II., 121.

Arnold, Matthew: A Poet of Fifty Years Ago, 62. The province of Poetry as contrasted with that of Philosophy and Theology, 62. Arnold's first volume of Poems and the controversies of the period, 63. His stoicism, 67. His humanity and sadness, 69. The doubt of fifty years ago, 72. Sonnets to Clough, 74. Sonnets on Nature, 74. On Nature and Man, 76. Utrumque Paratus, 77. The Voice, 79. Resignation, 80.

Authority in Religion, The Philosophy of, 677. Martineau and the principle of private judgment, 677. His partial concession to the principle of authority, 678. Authority of Church as embodying intuitions of saints and thought of theologians, 678. Place of authority in determining all individual beliefs, 679. Authority of those whose perceptions are unique, 682. Of Christ, 683. Of the Church, 684. Authority in the department of intellect, 684. Reason in the Theist and Agnostic, 685. Summary of conclusions, 691.

Bacon, B. W., Prof., D.D., author of article "Recent Aspects of the Johannine Problem.—I. The External Evidence," 510.

Brooke, Stopford A., LL.D., author of article "Matthew Arnold: A Poet of Fifty Years Ago," 62.

Buddhism as a Living Force, 465. Success of Buddhism in the past, 465. Its early conditions and opportunities, 466. Brahminism not then an organised institution, 467. Needs of the time, 470. The moral teaching of Buddhism, 471. Personal influence of Gotama, 471. His mode of dealing with the cultured and uncultured, 473. His attitude to the doctrine of Karma, 474. Salvation from re-births, 475. The development and decline of Buddhism, 477. Its survival in China and smaller countries, 480. Five new movements, 480. Similarity of conditions to those of early Buddhism, 484. Possibilities of Buddhism in the future, 485.

Burrell, P. S., M.A., author of article "The Growing Reluctance of Able Men to take Orders," 713.

Campbell, L., Prof., M.A., LL.D., author of article "Aspects of the Moral Ideal—Old and New," 294.

Cassels, W. R., author of article "The Purpose of Eusebius," 781.

Catastrophes and the Moral Order (Martinique and St Vincent, May 1902), 114. I. Relation to problem of evil, 114. To materialism no enigma of evil, 115. God as a Being of moral perfection cannot be the producer of Nature, 116. Doctrines of the Older East, 118. Of Zoroastrianism, 119. Of Hebraism, 119. Need of a new Idealism which shall be pluralistic, 121. II. St Pierre not a catastrophe unparalleled, 122. Rarity of such catastrophes the ground of the difficulty, 123. Not more terrible than normal evils, 123. Such convulsions only abnormal when viewed from standpoint of history, 124. Exceptional in human history, 125. Main trust of Theism, 126. III. Human mind can never accustom itself to catastrophes as regular, 126. Fact of death part of the fact of life, 128. Hinton's solution of problem of pain, 129. Pain and catastrophe cannot be avoided, but can be transformed by the spirit of the sufferer, 130. Doctrine of immortality, 131.

Cheyne, T. K., Prof., D.D., author of article "Pressing Needs of the Old Testament Study," 747.

Christian Doctrine, The Basis of, 5. Need of reconstruction of doctrine, 5. Westcott's definition, 5. Doctrine cannot be primarily based on historic record, 6. Observation and experience the basis for doctrinal construction, 7. Religious psychology, 8. Soteriology, or doctrine of man, 9. Starbuck and Granger, 11. Root facts of religious life, 12. Articles of religion, 14. Doctrine of God or Theology, 16. True revelation of God inward, 17. Christology, 19. The relation of doctrine to action, 19.

Cobb, W. F., D.D., author of article "Do we Believe in the Reformation?" 693.

Conybeare, F. C., M.A., author of article "Three Early Doctrinal Modifications of the Text of the Gospels," 96.

Davids, T. W. Rhys, Prof., Ph.D., LL.D., author of article "Buddhism as a Living Force," 465.

Dickinson, G. Lowes, M.A., author of article "Optimism and Immortality," 425.

Doctrine, The Drifting of, 498. Two opposing tendencies in the history of every creed, 498. Idea of absolute sovereignty of God,

499. Constitutional monarchy of God, 500. The Evangelical Church of Ireland as example of change through drift of opinion, 501.

Drummond, J., Principal, LL.D., Litt.D., author of articles "On the meaning of 'Righteousness of God' in the Theology of St Paul," I., 83; II., 272.

EDITORIAL, 1. Differences of opinion and attitude of HIBBERT JOURNAL thereto, 1. Doctrine of the "open door," 1. Truth to be found in the totality of different conclusions, 2. HIBBERT JOURNAL a common ground for the literary expression of opinion, 3. The aim of the Journal positive, 3. It stands for three positive truths, 4.

EUSEBIUS, THE PURPOSE OF, 781. Jannaris charges "Supernatural Religion" with misinterpreting passage of Eusebius, 781. Change in Jannaris' own view, 782. Now holds that Eusebius in H. E., iii. 3. 3 refers to Epistles but not to the Gospels, 784. Lightfoot's interpretation, 785. Interpretation of Tischendorf, 787. Of Hilgenfeld, 787.

Gardner, P., Prof., Litt.D., author of article "The Basis of Christian Doctrine," 5.

GOSPELS, THREE EARLY MODIFICATIONS OF THE, 96. I., Matt. i. 16, 96. II., Matt. xxviii. 19, 102. III., Matt. xix. 17 = Mark x. 18 = Luke xviii. 19, 108.

Horton, R. F., D.D., author of article "Catastrophes and the Moral Order" (Martinique and St Vincent, May 1902), III., 126.

Howison, G. H., Prof., LL.D., author of article "Catastrophes and the Moral Order" (Martinique and St Vincent, May 1902), I., 114.

INFINITE, THE CONCEPT OF THE, 21. Problem of the Infinite, 21. Scope of present essay, 23. Illustration of new conception, a package labelled with its own picture, 26. Plan of self-representation, 27. Demands an infinite series for its complete expression, 29. Dedekind's definition, 33. Problem of the self, 33. The self defined ideally is infinite, 34. Euclid's axiom of whole and part does not apply to self-representative systems, 35. Reflective thoughts form an infinite series, 39. For the idealist the real world is a self-representative system and therefore infinite, 40.

JESUS CHRIST, THE CHARACTER OF, 641. Renewal of popular interest in the character of Christ, 641. Ethical character of Christ, 643. Jesus and the Messianic prophecies, 646. Jesus and æstheticism, 647. His humility and delight in life, 648. Impression of his mastery, 651. His "religion of healthy-mindedness," 652. His learning, 653. His lightness of touch, 655. His habits of life, 656. His spiritual solitude, 658.

JEWISH SCHOLARSHIP AND CHRISTIAN SILENCE, 335. Why trouble about the misrepresentation of writers as to the Scribes and Pharisees? 335. The ignoring of Jewish scholars by Christian scholars, 336. Schürer and Rabbinic scholars, 337. Schechter on Rabbinic theology, 338. German Protestant theologians, 339. Reliance of Christian scholars on the apocalyptic literature, 341. Interpretation of Mark vii. 11, 342. Ignored by Driver and Cone, 344. Appeal to younger Christian scholars to "follow the argument," 346.

JOHANNINE PROBLEM, RECENT ASPECTS OF THE. I. The External Evidence, 510. Schürer's survey of the discussion, 510. The "silence of Eusebius," 511. Altered nature of the argument, 517. Data of the argumenta not derived from Papias, 522. Zahn's conjecture, 522. Theophilus of Antioch first distinctly declares the gospel to be the work of John, 525. The tradition of John as author runs rapidly out in mere Gnostic legends, 527. Justin Martyr, 528. External evidence at least as capable of interpretation against as for the Johannine authorship, 531.

Jones, H., Prof., M.A., LL.D., author of article "The Present Attitude of Reflective Thought towards Religion," 228.

LIBERAL CATHOLIC MOVEMENT IN ENGLAND, THE, 704. Recent crisis in the English Roman Catholic Church, 704. Liberal Catholics repudiate Papal infallibility, 705. And hope to institute a new system of education, 705. Financial administration of the English dioceses, 706. Mode of electing English bishops, 706. Relation to Ritualistic party in Anglican Church, 707. Invitation to reunion must come from Rome, 709. Illegal encroachments of regular priests, 710. Liberal Catholics in England hopeful of the future, 711.

Lodge, Sir Oliver, D.Sc., F.R.S., author of articles "The Outstanding Controversy between Science and Faith," 46, and "The Reconciliation between Science and Faith," 209.

Mahaffy, J. P., Prof., D.D., author of article "The Drifting of Doctrine," 498.

MARTINEAU, JAMES: A SAINT OF THEISM, 253. Newman and Martineau, 253. Drummond's biography of the latter, 255. Mrs Martineau, 256. R. H. Hutton, 257. Martineau's love of Scotland, 257. His Huguenot descent, 258. Harriet Martineau, 259. Martineau's first ministry, 260. His relinquishment of Priestley's necessarianism, 261. His mode of life, 262. His struggles and controversies, 263. His reserve, 264. His impartiality of judgment, 265. His sermons, 267. His attitude towards Unitarianism, 268. His ethics, 270. His obedience to conscience, 270.

MARTINEAU'S PHILOSOPHY, 441. Long period of Martineau's intellectual activity, 441. His articles in Prospective and National Review, 442. His insistence on the moral life as furnishing key to human existence, 444. His exposure of absurdity of a mindless universe, 444. His study of Kant and Hegel, 446. The Study of Religion, 448. Martineau's Intuitionalism, 451. His theory of moral judgment, 451. His ethical individualism, 453. His doctrine of moral obligations, 455. His conception of God, 458. His theory of freedom, 459. His explanation of causality, 461. His account of the religion of the spirit, 463.

Miller, W., C.I.E., D.D., LL.D., author of article "Are Indian Missions a Failure?" 661.

Missions, Christian, in India, The Failure of, 487. Missioner and not the mission that has failed, 487. Experience of author in India, 488. Reasons of failure, 489. Hindus ask which Christian religion is the only and true one? 489. Missioners' condemnation of Hinduism, 490. Influence of scientific works on Hindus, 491. Missioners usually Anglo-Indians, 492. Missioners' want of culture, 492. Their spiritual life lower than that of best Indian priests, 494. Requirements for success, 496.

Missions, Indian: Are They a Failure? 661. What is meant by failure, 661. Dr Oldfield's standard of success not warranted by anything in the history of the Christian Church, 662. Evidence of statistics, 664. Compared with early Christian results, 665. Majority of converts drawn from lower classes but by no means all, 667. Sects and parties of Christendom less than those of Hinduism, 668. Unreasonableness of demand for asceticism in missioners, 669. Difficulty as to bearing of missioners towards cultured Hindus, 671. Growing reverence for Christ, 672. Bright outlook in the South, 673. Condition of Indian missions compared to that of Wellington's army after his second or third retreat to Portugal, 674.

Moffatt, J., D.D., author of article "Zoroastrianism and Primitive Christianity," 763.

Montefiore, C. G., author of article "Jewish Scholarship and Christian Silence," 335.

Moral Ideal, Aspects of the,—Old and New, 294. Signs of exhaustion in the region of thought, 294. Ideals of to-day more political than personal, 295. Ideals of Plato and Pericles, 296. Ideal of Christianity, 297. St Francis, 298. Mediæval mystics, 299. Luther, 300. French Revolution, 301. Conception of duty, 301. Enthusiasm of humanity, 304. Art and morality, 305. Ideal of Culture, 306. Watchwords of religious freedom, 307.

Oldfield, J., D.C.L., M.R.C.S., author of article "The Failure of Christian Missions in India," 487.

Old Testament Study, Pressing Needs of the, 747. Crisis in methods of Biblical criticism, 747. Sobriety of radicalism, 749. Need of more thorough command of Assyriological and Egyptological material, 750. Need of a sufficiently keen and methodical textual criticism, 753.

Optimism and Immortality, 425. Instinctive optimism of animals, 426. And of man, 426. Optimism an unreflective attitude towards life, 428. View of the world is eternally perfect, 429. Not in accordance with experience, 429. View that it embodies a real process in time towards a good end, 431. Huxley's stoicism, 433. Doctrine of Progress, 434. As basis for optimism must comprise the possibility of a life after death, 437. Summary of conclusions, 439.

Orders, The Growing Reluctance of Able Men to Take, 713. Present condition of things, 713. The "curate" question, 714. Explanations offered of failing supply, 714. Change in men's intellectual views, 718. Rashdall's attempt to deal with the situation, 719. Decline of clerical don and clerical schoolmaster, 725. Impatience of dogma, 725. Church should prefer truth to ecclesiastical expediency, 727.

Peabody, F. G., Prof., D.D., author of article "The Character of Jesus Christ," 641.

Physical Law and Life, 728. Uniformity of nature, 728. Laws merely describe observed likenesses, 729. Process of reducing the number of typical cases must stop somewhere, 731. List of most general laws, 732. Atomic hypothesis of constitution of matter, 734. Thomson's theory, 736. The school of energetics, 737. The Laplacean calculator, 739. Want of analogy between mental conditions and physical conditions, 741. Freedom of will, 744. Action of the will as a guiding power, 745.

Poynting, J. H., Prof., Sc.D., F.R.S., author of article "Physical Law and Life," 728.

Pringle-Pattison, A. S., Prof., M.A., LL.D., author of article "Martineau's Philosophy," 441.

Reformation, Do we Believe in the? 693. Present condition of English Christianity anomalous, 693. The present an age of faith, 695. Church of England and modern unfaith, 697. Danger lies in the Church's intense conservatism, 698. Hypocrisies of Protestantism, 700. New presbyter is old priest writ large, 702. Need of truth and liberty, 703.

Religion, The Present Attitude of Reflective Thought towards, 228. Difficulty of interpreting one's own times, 228. Inheritance of present from last century, 229. Scepticism of our time, 230. Heart and head, 231. Argument that Reason is secondary and dependent, 231. That even truth may be esteemed too highly, 232. Personal Idealism, 232. Confidence of science in its methods, 233. Sciences of man equally fruitful, 236. Our age not sceptical of morals and religion, 237. Spiritualism of Wordsworth and Browning, 238. Faith in social reconstruction, 239. Discrepancy between our practical life and the theoretical reconstruction of it, 239. Present attitude of thought towards religion transitory, 243. Evolution, 246. Conception of world as a single system, 247. Problem of the ethical and religious life, 250. Religion cannot maintain itself by limiting the use of reason, 252.

"Righteousness of God," On the Meaning of, in the Theology of St Paul, 83. Usual opinion as to meaning of the terms δικαιοσύνη θεοῦ, 84. Meaning of δίκη and δίκαιος, 85. Sense of δίκαιον as used to translate Hebrew equivalent, 87. New Testament use of δικαιοσύνη, 92 and 272. Pfleiderer's view of Pauline meaning, 273. Criticism thereof, 275. Two kinds of righteousness, 277. Imputation, 279. Righteousness of God and faith, 280. Further examination of Pfleiderer's argument, 281. Holsten's arguments, 286.

Romans, Did Paul Write? 309. Grounds of traditional view, 309. Not one of them convincing, 321. Proofs that Romans is a compilation of pre-existent materials, 321. Epistle a series of inconsequences from beginning to end, 329. Another type of argument, 331. Summary of conclusions, 333.

Romans, Did Paul Write? A Reply, 532. Point of view in discussing question, 532. Smith does not take standpoint of history, 533. His examination of external testimony, 535. Omission of place-name, 537. Is the epistle only a "theological tractate"? 539. Smith's argument as to i. 8–15, 541. His treatment of the narrative of "Acts," 544. Examples of his method with text, 547. With what purpose should Romans originate in second century? 551.

Royce, J., Prof., Ph.D., LL.D., author of article "The Concept of the Infinite," 21.

Sabatier, Auguste, and the Paris School of Theology, 553. Sabatier's services to his time, 553. Origin and import of the name, Symbolo-fideism, 554. Sabatier's theory of theological knowledge, 556. His view of the origin and nature of religion, 559. His attitude towards theological dogma, 561.

Schmiedel, P. W., Prof., author of article "Did Paul Write Romans? A Reply," 532.

Science and Faith, The Outstanding Controversy between, 46. Influence of spirit of scientific inquiry upon theology, 46. Orthodox science, 47. Tyndall's view of prayer, 50. Huxley's statement of early Israelite's creed, 54. Every act attributed directly to Deity contrary to the spirit of orthodox science, 55. Tendency of latter to throw distrust upon any adjectives applied to God, 56. Does science account for life? 58. It has not yet succeeded in doing so, but may succeed, 58. The outstanding controversy rests upon two distinct conceptions of the universe, 60.

Science and Faith, The Reconciliation between, 209. Recapitulation of previous article, 209. Uniformity of nature, 210. Only at first sight excludes divine control, 211. Ultimate origins inscrutable to science, 212. Science teaches theology to look upon the action of Deity, if at all, then always, 214. Pantheism and anthropomorphism, 215. Attributes of Deity, 216. Divine guidance, 218. A scientific God—how would he work? 220. Mental facts and answer to prayer, 222. Region of religion and region of a completer science are one, 225.

Sidney, P., author of article "The Liberal Catholic Movement in England," 704.

Smith, W. B., Prof., M.A., Ph.D., author of article "Did Paul write Romans?" 309.

Stevens, G. B., Prof., Ph.D., D.D., LL.D., author of article "Auguste Sabatier and the Paris School of Theology," 553.

Ward, W., M.A., author of article "The Philosophy of Authority in Religion," 677.

Watson, J., D.D., author of article "James Martineau: A Saint of Theism," 253.

Zoroastrianism and Primitive Christianity, I. 763. Scope of present paper, 763. How far Avestan writings may be employed in the inquiry, 765. Presence of Zoroastrian ideas in pre-Christian Judaism, 770. Historical contact of primitive Christianity with Zoroastrianism also credible, 772. Iranian influence discernible within the gospels, 773. The Mazdean tenet of the fravashis, 778.

DISCUSSIONS.

Armstrong, R. A., B.A., Catastrophes and Moral Order, 570.
Boutwood, A., Professor Gardner on "The Basis of Christian Doctrine," 347.
Cohen, C., Catastrophes and the Moral Order, 360.
Deas, G. F., The Failure of Christian Missions in India, 799.
Galloway, G., M.A., Dr Martineau's "Theory of Freedom," 793.
Gardner, P., Prof., Litt.D., Professor Gardner on "The Basis of Christian Doctrine," 569.
Headley, T. G., Professor Gardner on "The Basis of Christian Doctrine," 349.
Hoernle, A. F. R., M.A., Did Paul write Romans? 797.
Jones, E. E. C., Green's Account of Aristotle's Ethics, 802.
Lodge, Sir Oliver, D.Sc., F.R.S., Professor Royce on "The Concept of the Infinite," 351.
Menzies, A., Prof., M.A., D.D., "Jewish Scholarship and Christian Silence: A Rejoinder," 789.
Schiller, F. C. S., M.A., Professor H. Jones on "Reflective Thought and Religion," 376.
Smith, W. B., Prof., M.A., Ph.D., Did Paul write Romans? 795.
Wilkinson, J. R., M.A., Mr Conybeare's Textual Theories, I. 354, II. 571.

REVIEWS.

Adeney, W. F., Prof.—Supernatural Religion, 391.
Bacon, B. W., Prof.—J. Grill, Untersuchungen über die Entstehung des vierten Evangeliums, 623.
F. Spitta, Untersuchungen über den Brief des Paulus an die Römer, 414.
Baillie, J. B., Prof.—J. M'E. M'Taggart, Studies in Hegelian Cosmology, 373.
Bartlet, V.—E. von Dobschütz, Die Urchristlichen Gemeinden, 612.
Boys-Smith, E. P.—Mrs Max Müller, Life and Letters of F. Max Müller, 834.
Carpenter, J. E.—J. Moffatt, The Historical New Testament, 188.
Conybeare, F. C.—P. Batiffol, Études d'Histoire et de Théologie positive, 599.
Criticism of the New Testament: St Margaret's Lectures, 1902, 412.

Conybeare, F. C.—V. Henri, Le Langage Martien, étude analytique de la Genèse d'une Langue dans un cas de Glossolalie somnambulique, 832.

A. Houtin, La Question Biblique chez les Catholiques, 826.

A. C. M'Giffert, The Apostles' Creed, its Purpose and its Historical Interpretation, 828.

F. Pécaut, Quinze ans d'Education, 831.

J. Réville, Le Protestantisme Libéral, 830.

Drummond, W. H.—Franciscan Literature, 840.

Fowler, W. W.—E. Aust, Die Religion der Römer, 590.

G. Wissowa, Religion und Kultus der Römer, 590.

Gardner, P., Prof.—Contentio Veritatis, by Six Oxford Tutors: Essays in Constructive Theology, 397.

W. James, The Varieties of Religious Experience, 182.

A. Loisy, L'Évangile et l'Église, 602.

Gray, G. B.—J. E. Carpenter, The Composition of the Hexateuch, 821.

Hargrove, C.—H. H. Wendt, The Gospel according to St John: An Inquiry into its Genesis and Historical Value, 410.

Hicks, G. D.—D. G. Ritchie, Studies in Political and Social Ethics, 394.

Jones, H., Prof.—J. Royce, The World and the Individual, 132.

Latta, R., Prof.—R. Adamson, Development of Modern Philosophy, with other Lectures, 806.

Lilley, A. L.—H. H. Henson, Cross-Bench Views of Current Church Questions, 407.

Lindsay, T. M.—Schmiedel on Primitive Organisation: A Criticism, 166.

Mellone, S. H.—A. E. Taylor, The Problem of Conduct: A Study in the Phenomenology of Ethics, 400.

Moffatt, J.—Encyclopædia Biblica, Vol. III.: New Testament, 161.

A. Harnack, Mission und Ausbreitung des Christenthums, 579.

A. Menzies, The Earliest Gospel, 385.

Morgan, W.—C. C. Everett, Psychological Elements of Religious Faith, 619.

Morrison, D.—J. B. Baillie, The Origin and Significance of Hegel's Logic, 607.

O. Pfleiderer, Das Urchristentum, 818.

Muirhead, J. H., Prof.—B. Kidd, The Principles of Western Civilisation, 147.

Peake, A. S., Prof.—Encyclopædia Biblica, Vol. III.: Old Testament, 154.

Rashdall, H.—A. M. Fairbairn, The Philosophy of the Christian Religion, 172.

Ritchie, D. G., Prof.—J. H. Muirhead, Philosophy and Life, and other Essays, 200.

Sanday, W., Prof.—J. Drummond, Some Thoughts on Christology, 144.

Smith, W. B., Prof.—W. C. Van Manen, Handleiding voor de Oudchristelijke Letterkunde, 193.

Stubbs, C. W.—S. A. Brooke, The Poetry of Robert Browning, 363.
Tarrant, W. G.—Short Notices, 843.
Taylor, A. E.—R. B. Haldane, The Pathway to Reality, 823.
H. Sidgwick, Lectures on the Ethics of Green, Spencer and Martineau, 595.
Thatcher, G. W.—A. H. Sayce, The Religions of Ancient Egypt and Babylonia, 837.
Upton, C. B.—H. Höffding, Religionsphilosophie, 190.
Personal Idealism. Edited by H. Sturt, 403.
Wicksteed, P. H.—Recent Dante Literature, 624.
Wodehouse, E. A.—Letters from John Chinaman, 813.

BIBLIOGRAPHY.

RECENT BOOKS AND ARTICLES, 631 and 846.

THEOLOGICAL AND PHILOSOPHICAL PERIODICALS:—

(1) Theological.
American Journal of Theology, 202 and 416.
Church Quarterly, 416.
Expositor, 203 and 418.
Jewish Quarterly Review, 205 and 416.
Journal of Theological Studies, 202 and 415.
Revue Biblique, 204 and 420.
Revue d'Histoire et de Littérature Religieuses, 205 and 419.
Theologische Studien und Kritiken, 417.
Zeitschrift für Theologie und Kirche, 418.
Zeitschrift für wissenschaftliche Theologie, 205 and 417.

(2) Philosophical.
Archiv für systematische Philosophie, 208 and 424.
International Journal of Ethics, 207 and 422.
Mind, 206 and 420.
Philosophical Review, 206 and 421.
Revue de Metaphysique et de Morale, 207 and 423.
Revue Philosophique, 207 and 422.
Vierteljahrsschrift für wissenschaftliche Philosophie, 208.
Zeitschrift für Philosophie und Philosophische Kritik, 208 and 423.

PRINTED BY NEILL AND CO., LTD., EDINBURGH.